Back to Work: get ready for phasing-out of the COVID-19 lockdown

Are you sure the measures you have foreseen will enable a safe and smooth “back-to-work”? Our experts can help you to find the right balance between protecting people and contribute to the end of this pandemic.

We assist you to ensure a strong compliance with the regulation and guidelines from different sources (Government, Trade Unions, Associations...) while maintaining efficient and flexible business operations.

How we can support you?

Back to work assistance

We help you to define appropriate measures in multiple areas (staff management, infrastructure, organisation & processes, internal rules, monitoring...), and we assist you on purchasing the adequate equipment to protect your staff and your company. We also help you to stay in line with the regulations issued by the key decision-makers (Occupational health, Labour laws, Trade Union guidelines, ASTF, CNPD, CSSF...) and ensure a regulatory watch for you on this critical topic.

Working from home implementation

We help you to review your IT infrastructure to ensure its adequate size to support homeworking. We help you to define appropriate cybersecurity measures to ensure a secure connection to company's data from any device (laptop, smartphone...). We also help you to setup the working from home rules for your staff.

Human resources management

We help your HR team to understand and deal at best with specific conditions issued in this period such as Partial Unemployment and Leave for Family Reason (LFR). We also help you to manage the holidays of your staff in alignment with law requirements.
